A large, stylized outline of an eagle's head and wings, rendered in a geometric, Art Deco style. The eagle is facing forward, with its wings spread upwards and outwards. The lines are clean and sharp, creating a sense of movement and strength.

With the spirit of the eagle

On his strong wings

We shall soar

The Board of Education. Mr. Robert La Mountain, Mr. Arthur Hoffman, trustee, Mr. Thomas R. Jones, trustee. Seated, Mr. Kenneth Mitchell, vice-president, Mrs. Lois M. Myers, trustee, Mr. Leroy Comstock, president. Not present for the picture was Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, secretary.

Now in his twenty-fifth year as superintendent of Madison schools, Mr. F. Foster Wilkinson.

Mr. Gerald Bush, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of curriculum.

Mr. Laurence Decker Becomes New Principal

This year Mr. Laurence Decker was appointed principal of Madison High School when Mr. Fred Burgess moved into the purchasing department of the superintendent's office. Mr. Decker was born in Findlay, Ohio. He received his B.E. at the University of Toledo, and his M.A. at Ohio State University. He has done further graduate work at Wayne State University. He served two years in the army and as sergeant taught N.C.O. and officers school at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. In his eight and a half years at Madison Mr. Decker has taught history and civics, served as counselor, assistant principal and now principal. He is a past member of the Pi Gamma Mu, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Fine Arts Club. He has served as chairman of the Youth Protection Committee. He also holds membership in the Rotary Club, the Personnel Guidance Association, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals, and he attends the Reformed Church of America. He is married to a former school teacher and has four children: Adelia May, 7; Steven James, 5; Philip Lawrence, 3 and John Barnhill 6 months.

Schools Are Founded on Academics or So

Tradition Has It

Schools are founded on academics or so the tradition has it. We like to think that our school gives more than lip service to the old Greek ideal of excellence of mind and body, the one complementing the other. We do sometimes find that some of the best athletes are also the best scholars, but this is often the exception to the rule. Society today is compartmentalized and we, too, tend toward this. At Madison, nevertheless, there has always been a tendency of great interest and open-mindedness among the students, which each year produces several outstanding senior scholars, and throughout the student body a rather broad knowledgeableness. Curiosity is the basis of learning. But there is also the need of comprehending the nature of curiosity. Ignorance arises from our not knowing that something is waiting to be learned. Give a Madison student the incentive of the challenge to know and he usually will involve himself in the subject. Another interesting facet of the Madison student is his independence. When he becomes interested in any field of learning he will often pursue it along a line of his own determination. They say conformity is the mark of the modern man. It's refreshing to observe how many among us don't accept the general rule.

Students Sketch From Nature

Mr. Bach

Mrs. Barteld

Mrs. Bellas

Mr. Bellas

Mr. Blore

In the long lovely fall the art students had class outside nearly every day and sketched from nature. Shirley Head and Julie Mizzi balance art boards as they stand among the fallen leaves. Bob Valenti does something intricate with gouache in the scene below.

Madison offers art students unusual opportunity to paint from nature because of its lovely setting. The sketchers on a fine October day are Darlene Owens, Greg Savine, Jim Russell, and Jim McCoy. Mike Emmer, below, finds inspiration and problems within doors.

Conservation Classes Plan Nature Sanctuary

Our school is particularly fortunate in its setting. This year the woodland section behind the school was turned into a nature sanctuary, an arborium, by Mr. Johnson's new conservation class. Not only did they trim the underbrush, but they cut nature trails. Eventually they plan to stock the woods with wild flowers native to Michigan, and with growth designed to attract special kinds of birds. Small animals also will be encouraged to live in the woods, and a fish pond is in the planning stage. Biology, arts, science and other classes will find the area useful and everyone will find it a cool woods in the middle of a growing urban community. Leading boys off on their first day's work is Ed Kennedy followed by Ron Cox and Mr. Johnson. Below Mr. Johnson directs Gilbert Malak, Rick Robinson, Frank Reno, Jerry Jones, Ron Cox, Ron Dooley, Ron Giera, Martin Hilliard and Charlie Hart.

Dan Will, a true forest ranger, prunes away a dead branch. Below Dieter Payton shows perfect form for chopping a log while remaining spotless. Pete Van Oosten's axe rings out a cheery accompaniment.

Mechanical Drawing Is Highly Popular Class

The boys of the drafting class are usually so intense about their work neither noise of bells nor photographer's lights can jar their attention from dimensioning, French curving, doing isometric plates, or dreaming about architectural designs. Nick Kokotovich above and Ron Smith below are perfect examples of this concentration.

Intellectual Variety Is the Rule Here, Not the Exception

The achievement in English is mainly an interior accomplishment except for the mechanics of writing. Being interiorly moved by Macbeth are Linda Eddy and Jerry Waldrop. Miss Brushweiler stirs up interest on a dull fall day by challenging students over the meaning of Hemingway's "Old Man at the Bridge." Her interested observers are Harold McGraw, Candy Grieve, Richard Danver, Cheryl Glasgow, Shiela Bruce, Vicki Arch, and Terri Allen.

The journalism class under the leadership of Mrs. Carr plans the first edition of the new Aquila. Brenda Ellis makes a suggestion to Cherrri Durrett, Pat Tobey, and Pat Humphries. Much of putting out a newspaper is planning and discussion. People involved in features for a spring issue are Jim Bergholtz, Ester Baker, Janis Baker, Paulet Arch, and Kathy Blake.

Language Students Are Aided by Efficient Lab

Usually photographers hesitate to approach Miss Ruth Hagle when she is teaching American History. She becomes dangerous if disturbed. We warned our photographer, but he got a gleam in his eye and entered the room. For a moment it looked as though he was in trouble, but intrepidly he went forward, and the lady seeing he meant business backed away and then burst into laughter.

New to the French department is Mr. Murray Valiquette. He controls the language lab as Marilyn Thomas, Lloyd Hood, Sue Machnik, Jill Falkner, Linda Littlepage, and Pat Carpenter listen and respond.

Miss Mady Habermann in her quietly efficient way got some intense studying for her 10th grade world history class. She was new to the faculty this year.

Sewing Machines, Typewriters Require Manual Dexterity

Loretta Bice couldn't be happier than to have found out the secret of bound buttonholes. It wasn't an easy accomplishment. Her enthusiasm is understandable. Below, Mrs. Murphy explains to Sue Meyers the touch adjustor of her typewriter.

Jim Clark, Lola Holston, Galena Menkelunias, Ardith Mueller, Richard Danver, Roger Zerndt, Judy Buck concentrate as Mr. Fenner explains that $Y=mx+b$ will form the equation of a straight line when the slope and Y-intercept are known. Do you know it?

A less complicated problem arises when Mr. Sanders creates a flame by touching a match to phosphorus, or when Mr. Blore, below, tries to impress a point of parliamentary procedure on his speech class.

Don Ray, Ed Kennedy, and Pat Rossilli put a casserole into the oven in a boys' cooking class (we mean chefs' gourmet), while Rodney Schultz waits whimsically for business in the shop.

In an Il Pensive mood, Walt Schmara contemplates the harmonies of mathematics.

Among our practice teachers was Mr. Beadle who discussed a history test question with a student as Linda Dillard waits.

Who is more intent—Barbara Elliott as she practices the flute or Mr. DeKay showing the truth of a theorem to Eric Ollila?

Cheerfulness, Efficiency Are Qualities of Attendant Staffs

We have more custodians than are pictured here, but they didn't find the photographer or he didn't find them. Besides Mr. Olliila and Mr. Austin pictured here, there are Mr. Hill, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Wolff.

Counselor Max Hoffman enrolls new student, Ann Merchberger who came to school with her mother, Mrs. J. Merchberger.

Below, we have proof that for cheerfulness and efficiency there is secretarial staff to top ours. Mrs. Captain sits at her desk. Behind her Mrs. Tucker who is in charge of attendance with her assistant, Mrs. Barbara Matteson, and Mrs. Martha Watson, Mr. Decker's whizz of a secretary.

Underclassmen Have the Advantage of

Great Expectation

What is an underclassman? An underclassman is someone who doesn't know it, but he has it all his own way. He has the advantage of great expectations — he says he wants to be a senior, but he is quite content to be himself still safely ensconced within these walls, not looking for a college or looking for a job except as something for the future. He is like a swimmer on a summer's day who can float for hours on the surface of the water and not have to think much about the shore. It seems to him high school will last forever. In his gloomier moments he says high school is a prison and he is a poor prisoner with everyone telling him what to do, but in his more natural frame of mind he accepts the fact that the world is his oyster and he climbs even to the roof of his school to get a clearer view of life, liberty, and the pursuit of his goals. And so we have pictured him, gay, serious, a little mad, fun, and loyal to his school's colors. Long may he reign!

Clubs and Activities Offer Great Diversity

After Academic Day

If any student of Madison High School can't find something among the clubs and activities here to interest him, his specialty must be so far out it's top secret! Added to the old traditional clubs and events, this year a really jivey pep band was started, a ski club was organized and frustrated only by a peculiarly snowless winter, a hockey team was established, a literary club founded, and medical students came into being. If your preference was for drama, you could help create costumes, do set designing, decoration, and building, or act, sing or dance in the really extravagant production of A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM. The picture on this page shows one of our loveliest events of the year, the Christmas Concert where the girls of the chorus appeared in wide-skirted chiffon evening gowns of blue against the silver shimmer of the Christmas trees. The band was on the stage. The most popular event of the year aside from sports is always the Sadie Hawkins Day Dance when people enjoy letting their hair down. Serious activities like chess have devotees who can be seen any time pondering queens, knights, and castles, the debate team moves on acquiring yearly honors, the N.H.S. remains the highest academic group of the school. The V.C.Y. promotes Christian brotherhood. The Aquila notes and reports the school week, the cheerleaders combine hard work and fun. And even now we've only mentioned a portion of the possibilities for those who add to their studies a zest for social activity which is one of the works of a good citizen.

Debbie Wesolowski, Marilyn Pineau, Sandy Dunning, Jill Bergh, Lorraine Mirek, Charlotte Shipman, Judy Rose, Karen Ollila, Pam Kobis, Linda Stinson. Back Row, Roger Pelham, Charles Bennett.

Linda Montagu, Sandy Gould, Pattie West, Judy Rose, Lorraine Mirek, Charlotte Shipman. Behind the fence are a mixture of Madisonians and visitors come to see the bonfire and game.

The great dragon, somewhat collapsed for the moment waits to be revived and to get into the parade. Wayne Milliken, Mike Myke and Harry Sutton help Tony Ociepka and Terry Crampton.

Parade, Bonfire, Everything but

Dear Little Cheerleaders let nothing you dismay. Burn him with good will, or as Lancelot said, barbeque him! It's all for the cause, and when your deed is done, give a cheer! Their victim was an unknown monster created for the occasion. It is interesting to see that not even Judy Rose's tiara was not dislodged during the sacrifice nor afterwards when she poses in triumph with Lynda Montague, Sandy Gould, Pattie West, Judy Rose, Lorraine Mirek and Charlotte Shipman.

A monster of another kind was concocted by the Sophomores lead by Tony Ociepka, and Terry Crampton who look as though they could raise a good bonfire. This was the homecoming where someone reported having heard on the radio an announcement that a Mr. Earl Hunsaker was desperately looking for a rickshaw. If he found one our photographer didn't tell, nor whether he rode in it or played cool-ie. Some of our nicest girls are majorettes as can be seen as Carol Hess and Pam Jackson lead off in a high step down John R taking the homecoming parade to the field.

Mr. Wentworth, Carol Hess, Pam Jackson, Lois Doolin, Billie Keeler, Bev Zamojcin, and Bard Taylor.

Coronation, Dance – Victory Was Ours

The queen and the king of homecoming were Linda West and Mike Jacobs. Linda came down the candidates' carpet calmly enough on Mike's strong arm but appears overcome when her name is announced. Both she and Mike wore their robes and crowns with grace. The whole court was handsome as you can see even from a rear view.

At a dance we might as well have a ball as John Firetto and Charlotte Shipman are doing.

Part of the fun of being a cheerleader is getting to ride in a parade in an open convertible. Dennis Tibbetts chauffeurs Evie Rahm, Madeline Pino, Sandy Dunning, Jill Bergh and Debbie Wesolowski. We played Rochester and we didn't win. But we had as much fun as winners should.

Before the coronation, Linda and Mike come down the path of honor.

Linda, somewhat overcome by her title is comforted by Mike and cheered by Ellen McKervey, Ron Burgess, Bonnie Hamner. Below, the court faces the assembly.

Grab Yerself a Feller, Head Dogpatch Way!

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hoffman and young'uns, Mark, little Tod and Tari.

Pappy Yokum, having eluded Mammy, finds a new gal called Kurtz and trucks a little to that wild ole band called the Rockatones.

Teachers and Students Don Disguises In Order To Play In Mammy Yokum's Town

When the leaves are a fallin' and smokes in the aer, and it's all so perdy, what's to do but git yerself a beau and go on over to Cora Barteld's wild old liberry, where they're whoopin' up a shindig. There's everythin' thar — good vittles and frondly people and perdy gals and marryin' Sam who'll hitch ya to as many gals as ya got dimes to pay, and real swingin' music and just good ole fun for a good ole cause — books to larn out of in our liberry. Some day ah'm gona git me an English book. Ah sure am! And in case yer all a wonderin' what else you can call Pappy Yokum by, wall, just you all yell "John Sander!" and see what happens. Or scream "Earl Hunsaker!" at Marryin' Sam for satisfvin' results.

Now isn't that cute? Frankie Rhodes brought his own little monster and he's sharing his refreshments with it. If anyone yelled "Jeaniett Smith!" the monster would jump clear out o' its skin, sure enuff! And Terry Owens, Margaret Wolf, Dave Oseychuck, Sue Lane, Jerry Hunsanger and Brenda Walker are dancin', just dancin'.

Well, what's Pappy up to now? Little ole Mammy (nee Alice Mclsaac) is havin' a time thar makin' him make these promises all over agin. Singin' Sam is bettin' on Mammy and Chochise's cousin, George Campbell, is ready to help with his little hatchet.

Invisible Blue-Eyed Rabbit Enchants Audience

Pooka, a term used frequently in the play in reference to Harvey, is defined from an encyclopedia as: a fairy spirit in animal form always very large. A wise, mischievous creature very fond of rum-pots and crack pots.

Bringing Mary Chase's three act farce to life were Eric Ollila as Elwood P. Dowd, befrienders of the blue eyed carrot lover, Jean Wuori as Elwood's social climber sister, Veta; Fran Sajdak as Myrtle Mae, Veta's daughter; Sue Badgley as the eccentric aunt; and Esther Joseph as the household maid.

Left alone in the parlor one of the doctors tells Myrtle Mae what he thinks of her and suggests she come to visit him. Right: Elwood introduces Mrs. Chumley to his rabbit friend, Harvey. Bottom: The taxi driver demands his fee of Veta, while Myrtle Mae and Judge Goffney looks on.

All That Glitters

Christmas season at Madison, usually a purely joyful time, was rather subdued this year. Even where one wasn't thinking about it, one felt the presence of a sadness alien to this time of year. It was a sadness the nation was involved in. Thanksgiving came on the heels of murder. Christ's birth with its meaning of a shared love was oddly aligned to the instant of hate whose retribution shook us so deeply. Everyone's thoughts were still close to that hill in Arlington, but the law of life is to live, and his memory was best honored by doing that because part of his style had been his insistence in participation in life to the very final moment of his own.

So the mummies put on their masks, the trees were decorated, the dancers stepped sprightly, the choir donned diaphanous gowns of blue and we carried on with a really lovely Christmas program.

is Gold : But Only True at Christmastime

On the facing page are scenes of rehearsals for the mummies play, a revival of an ancient Christian pre-Christmas festival. Sue Badgley, Esther Joseph, Jean Wouri, and Laura Whisman say lines. Below, Larry Gentry, behind his mummer's mask waits, and Tom Lewis tries to get in a word between Jean Wouri and Norleen Smith. The face behind the mask is also Norleen's.

Terry Crampton and Beverly Lyle walk past the office tree, silver with pink and rose ornaments. In the library Mike Deane and Sue Houle enjoy the silver and multi-colored tree.

Bill Pioch and Dale Ann Badder share seasons greetings. Below Richard Danver and Phil Dimante. Among the dancers are Julie Mizzi, Sue Machnik, Charlie Schultz, Tina Tourkakis, Larry Gentry, Jerry Waldrop, Tom Lewis, Beverly Lyle, Candy Lowe.

Snow Queen Will Be Annual

SNOW QUEEN

It was a very distinguished affair, this Snow Queen Ball and its sponsors, the Varsity Club, intend it to be annual. The voting for the Snow Queen was unique. Each class voted for a girl from their own ranks and these four names were put in containers in the office. One could vote as often as one wanted to for a penny a vote. The senior votes won and dark-haired chic, Judy Marchionni was queen of the dance. Her escort was Ken Forshee. Above, the court: Julie Mizzi, Mike Macknic, Linda Stinson, Larry Zimmerman, Judy, Ken, Cheryl Adler, Brian Kurl, and Eric Ollila. The same group below descends to the dance. The punch bowl was a popular place between dances. Larry Gentry, Jerry Hunsanger, Pete Chrest, wait as Roy Chapman does the honors. The proceeds from the Snow Ball are directed toward the scholarship the Varsity Club gives each year. It will be an assured gift if as much fun is promised annually as was had this year. It was the perfect mixture of manners and high spirits.

1963 Season Closes With a Dance

Very different in mood was the Spirit of '67, a gay, wild affair where dress was informal, shoes kicked off, and rhythm, rhythm, rhythm took over. It was pure rock and roll, stomping and shouting and clapping and pausing only long enough to hear singers, Teresa Lindsay and Sam Cook. For this dance the big gym was packed as it is rarely packed except for games, and fun was the law of the evening. If the class of '67 keeps up this pace it will be a group to watch in the next few years. We leave identifications to you. If you look intently you might find yourself or your best friends.

One of the most impressive ceremonies of the school year is their induction at a candle lighting ceremony in which new members are called to the ranks to be pledged to the ideals of scholarship, leadership, service and character. The officers for this year are Eric Ollila, president; Bob Cook, vice-president; Brenda Ellis, secretary; and Judy Marchionni. Mrs. Alice McIssac is their sponsor.

Service, Imagination Mark Actions of Student

The governing body of the students meet once a week to discuss not only the problems of our school but also to learn how other student councils operate. Seated are: Lynn Whisman, Carol Robinson, Barbara Traylor, Bernie Travnikar, Bruce

Preparation for this year's council activities really began during the summer at the University of Michigan where Bernie Travnikar and Bruce Brown spent a week discussing student council activities with representatives of hundreds of high school students from all over the country. Plans were also laid there for a civil rights conference which took place later in the year. The activities here began with homecoming. They sponsored the Spirit of '67 pictured left below. The Student Council was responsible for the coronation, the king and queen, the parade to the field and the half-time ceremonies. To represent the Student Council Sue Goodwin was elected the first annual "Miss Student Council". Later in the year the council spent the day in Lansing learning lessons in government and parliamentary procedure, and they also joined in a 50 school petition to the legislature to discuss smoking among teenagers. Plans were laid for a carnival to be held during the 1964-65 school year, and the proposition of the possibility of inviting an exchange student here for the coming year was brought forward.

Council and Drama Club

One of the most delightful offerings of the drama club this year was the Mummings play at Christmas, quite different and amusing. The audience was thoroughly amazed at this somehow both naive and sophisticated offering. The group has been taking on the appearance of an acting class trying out pantomime and working into reading with proper feeling and emotion. The outcome of this experience was A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM which played, staged in the round, for a week. After that the group took on compiling a prompt book which is a major chore of directors. In connection with the Shakespeare play the drama club sponsored a contest for any art abstraction related to the great playwright's work and entries were shown along with Elizabethan art at the performances in deference to the four hundredth anniversary of his birth.

A scene from the Mummings play. If you don't know who they are, neither do we since they wore paper masks which broke up the audience, particularly since their swords and shields were paper, too.

Fran Sadjak, Rhonda Sutherland, Phil Mooney, Larry Morse, Laura Whisman, Jean Wouri, Bruce Brown, Dan Fairchild, Norleen Smith, Martha Poquette, Eric Ollila, Jerry Waldrop, and

Madison High School Debaters Continue To Bring Home High Honors

Outstanding Madisonians are the debaters. They won the Detroit Free Press Plaque for excellence in Michigan High School Debate, symbol of a 75% or better winning season. Members: Ruth White, Diane Keller, Eric Ollila, and Jerry Waldrop. They won three medals in American Legion Oratory: American Legion Gold Award to Eric Ollila, $25; American Legion Silver Award to Jerry Waldrop; and the American Legion Bronze Award to Rick Camp. They attended Hillsdale College Model United Nations representing Bolivia and Czechoslovakia. They attended University of Detroit Model United Nations representing Venezuela and Finland. They had four participating units in the Suburban League Debate: Ruth White, Diane Keller, Eric Ollila, Jerry Waldrop, Frank Pickard, Paul Kurily, Dale Lewis, Ron Thomas, Dave Pepperell, Bill Teany, Roy Pineau, John Bewick, Nick Kokotovich, Pat Carpenter, and Fran Sadjak. They made two broadcasts on WEXL Radio, and they participated in extempore and oratory sections of Spring Forensics State Schedule.

Cheerleaders in Three School Spirit With

*Our Girls Are Winners in Looks, Action, Personality;
We Salute Their Vigor,
Grace, Unflagging Vitality*

The varsity Cheerleaders have logged sixteen years of cheering among them since their freshman year: Charlotte Shipman, 4 years; Lorraine Mirek, 1 year; Judy Rose, 4 years; Pattie West, 4 years; Sandy Gould, 2 years; Lynda Montague, 4 years. They appear in this pose wearing for the first time their new bright gold and white uniforms with purple insignia created for them by their sponsor, Mrs. Strumbel.

Some of the hardest working people at MHS are the cheerleaders who log hundreds of hours practicing, besides the time they put in at games. No matter how they are feeling, like actresses, they smile gaily and perform with effortless grace. Being a cheerleader carries prestige and much admiration, and it requires high grades, a sense of timing and acrobatic precision, good lungs, and enthusiasm for dying causes, enthusiasm for winning causes, and endless vitality. To be a cheerleader means you have succeeded over stiff competition and now you are in a particular way a representative of your school because so many people notice you at games throughout the year. Do you hear anyone complaining? Not about our squads!

Groups Generate Bright Enthusiasm

The Junior Varsity and Freshmen Cheerleaders have the same requirements as the Varsity group. Each group is alone at Junior Varsity and Freshmen games, but at assemblies they join the Varsity squad to put on some spectacular performances. Most of the girls from these squads try out for Varsity and usually the Varsity is chosen from these pros.

Freshmen Cheerleaders Lynda Stinson, Jayne Jozwiak, Roseanne Chiarotti, and Karen Ollila do a half split.

In half-moon formation are the Junior Varsities, Evie Rahm, Sandy Dunning, Madeline Pino, and Debbie Wesolowski.

Happy 400th Mr. Shakespeare!

Madison Saluted the Bard With A Mid-Summer Night's Dream Done Theatre in the Round

The biggest thing the drama group under Mr. Earl Hunsaker has ever attempted was the wonderful production of A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM by Mr. William Shakespeare, who was four hundred years old this year, and who, though he is dead, still lives intensely. On April 21 Madison had an invitation performance and a reception for city officials, faculty members and guests. On April 22 there was an open twilight performance, on April 23, the actual birthday of Shakespeare a commemorative twilight performance, and the week finished with two further performances, the longest run for any show ever done here. The play was given in the round, which made scenery and props negligible, but the costumes were a delight and were all made right here by the home economics class under the guidance of Mrs. Watton working from Mr. Hunsaker's original designs. What properties were used were done by Mr. Guzack's shop class. The list of people involved in this play reads like a Who's Who of Madison High School. The actors as they appeared were Theseus, Bruce Brown, Hippolyta, Judi Davidson, Philostrate, Howard Hime, Egues, Jerry Waldrop, Hemia, Lynn Olson, Delmetrius, Eric Ollila, Lysander, Danny Fairchild, Helena, Fran Sadjak, Peter Quince, Larry Morse, Bottom (Pyramus), Dave Talford, Flute (Thisby), George Braxton, Snout (Wall), Tom Heger, Snug (Lion), John Western, Starveling (Moon), Larry Gentry, Attendant Spirit Pat Carpenter, Puck, Norlene Smith, Titania, Cindy Howell, Oberon, Tom Lewis and Guards, Pat Rossilli, and Greg Savine; Huntsmen, Jerry Hunsanger, Tom McMasters and Jim Wilfong; dancers Sue Machnik, Charles Schultz, Julie Mizzi, Candy Lowe, Debbie Wesolowski, Bev Lyle, Sue Haslett and Kathy Stevens. The crew: student director, Jean Wuori, lighting, Dan Gentry, music and sound, Roy Chapman, prompter, Beverly Zamajcin, wardrobe, Esther Joseph and Raemon Joseph, ticket manager, Sue Badgley, concessions, Eve Huard and Laura Whisman, exhibitions, Linda Eddy and Rhonda Sutherland.

The Catalina Club has been an active club at Madison for four years now, and each year it seems to improve and enlarge. There have been five water shows sponsored by this group each spring. In 1960 the theme was CONVERSATION; in 1961 it was HOLLYWOOD RECORDS; in 1962 outer space took over with A-OK; last year it was LET US ENTERTAIN YOU, and the 1964 theme borrowed from you know who on television — AND AWAY WE GO! The Modern Dance Club was organized last year during the water show, took part in some numbers and continued through this year. The Christmas program was their fall work and much ingenuity was shown in this performance. The dancers reappeared this spring in the exciting production of A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM, and the water show. The opportunities offered students in the variety of jobs to do in the water show has brought out talent in acting, dancing, swimming. Dancing itself develops a creative attitude toward rhythm, and putting these people in water to remain graceful under more difficult circumstances tests their abilities further. Cooperation is particularly useful here and has proven successful.

Intramural Sports is the chief interest of the Girls Athletic Club. Adding physical activity such as basketball, ping-pong, tennis, swimming, to their intellectual pursuits are, seated, Ann McGrath, Joanne Knaebel, Sandy Dunning, Candy Lowe, Nancy Travnikar, Diann Short, Carol Hess, Frances Bush, Peggy Bosca, Linda Jacks; standing, Charlene Elliott, Shirley Partin, Carol Johnson, Lynda Montague, Judy Rose, Charlotte Shipman, Pattie West, Sandy Gould, Madeline Peno, Jill Bergh, Debbie Wesolowski, Evelyn Rahm; last row, Mrs. Bellas, Jane Burch, Alice Hoilman, Barbara Elliott, Mary Mauro, Sharon Perry, Lorraine Mirek, Sally Howe, Patricia Miller, Pattie Simons, Chris Drake. Mrs. Bellas was the sponsor until she retired in January. Mrs. Berry has replaced her.

We vote, yes! yes! yes! for our majorettes as the highest-stepping, best-looking, most pizazz parade leaders anywhere around here. They begged to be photographed sitting on the bleachers of the new athletic field, so we posed them there and then posed them marching. Now wouldn't anyone rather see majorettes marching? Across the page, Linda Jelinek, Barb Taylor, Judy Combs, Barb Williams, Lois Doolin, Lynn Swieczkowski, Carol Hess, Pam Jackson, Nancy Taylor, Sharon Henning, Beverly Zamojcin, and Billie Keeler.

Spring and fall have a special accent for those whose ears are sharp enough to catch it. The band is out then on good days, doing marching practice to get ready for the events of the year starting off with the homecoming parade. They march at all home games, at Little League games, at city parades, and at Christmastime they join with the chorus in giving a concert. The true accent of the band is the spirit of unity its syncopation gives to the student body. But for special syncopation the whole assembly was delighted when at the first pep assembly this year suddenly a very jivey group sounded and in minutes had brought down the house. Madison had a pep band! Its director is Mr. Chris Dorjath and its swinging members are saxophonists John Stodola, Jane Johnson, Clayton Battin; drummer, Mark Authier; trombonist; Phil Mooney; trumpeters, Rick DeLorme, Don Ray, Bill Clark; bass fiddler, Paul Luchetski; and pianist George Campbell.

Ski Club Heads for Bigness

What have we here? They aren't skiers. They aren't snowmen. But they are standing in the snow and they are not wearing coats. Has anyone heard anything about a Polar Bear Club? That's probably what these people represent.

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. Madison students learned the meaning of this old cliché as many tumbled down the ski slopes of Mt. Holly. The newly organized ski club suddenly became the most popular craze at Madison. Terms such as schuss, slalom, and snowplow, were added to the Madisonian's vocabulary. Sponsored by Mr. Ralph Skinner, Miss Patricia Sarantos, and Miss Barbara Ericson, the Ski club became the largest club in the school. Although Mother Nature wasn't very helpful with weather conditions, skiers enjoyed a few invigorating sessions on the slopes. They are looking forward to a more successful year when the interest becomes even more widespread.

What is a Varsity Club Member? A Varsity Club Member is supposed to be a good sport and to promote good sportsmanship. To make the Club you have to play a Varsity sport and get a Varsity letter. Once you are in the Club you still have to work to keep the position. Meetings tend to be serious and such things as scholarships and school fund raising dances are discussed. Later no one is surprised if the bubble gum is broken out. This year the "three days of terror" or initiation was held in January and 24 new members came in, including most of the Hockey Club, the new varsity sport.

Library Throbs Out Energy to the Whole School

If any single place can be called the heart of the school, perhaps the library is that place. It is a combination of forces — books form its heart, and to aid in the knowledge in books is the audio-visual department which controls the use of movies, slides, and all other concurrent material. This is a large operation and a very vital one. There is no phase of the school that does not use the library and audio-visual. Over the years the library has acquired a really fine collection of books for pleasure and information or both. In the audio-visual department there are television sets, slide and movie projectors, records, tape recorders and growing collection of tapes, besides many special projectors for showing films in the daylight. Madison belongs to a unique organization, The South Oakland Film Library, along with several other school districts in this part of the country. They all pay a certain amount of money and from this films and film collections are purchased for the general use which no school could afford alone. This year just one of the fine additions was that remarkable hour from television, THE REAL WEST, an excellent true version of the Westward Movement narrated by Gary Cooper. THE HUMANITIES has proven useful and inspiring, too. The library also has collections of reference books and others which can be ordered out to the classroom. The question most asked in a school day is, "May I have a library pass?"

The library staff: Sue George, Marcia Smith, secretary, Mrs. Barteld, librarian, Cheri Roussel, Karen Rumps, in the front. Second row, Dale Lewis, Roy Pineau, Ron Bowman, Carol Snell, assistant librarian, George Campbell, Charles Bennett, Carol Jozwiak, Phil Mooney and Marie Bush.

Despite protests of innocence from the audio-visual staff, the screams of their near-victims at last can be verified with visual if not audio proof. Notice that Ron Davenport's and Phil Mooney's faces are blurred. Our speediest cameras (1/11,000,000 sec.) couldn't clear them up. That means they were jetting, Mrs. Barteld!

Neither bells nor lunch hours, nor darkness, nor floods, nor broken films, nor crowded halls, nor flat tires can stop the audio-visual crew from meeting their rendezvous with destiny. If you need classroom aides, send for Bob Dickinson, George Campbell, Charles Bennett, Dale Lewis, Sue George, Ron Bowman, Phil Mooney, Jim McCoy, Tom Williams or Ray Pineau.

Chess Club Addicts Have Headquarters in Library

The Madison High School Chess Club is now nearing the end of its second year in the GDCASS (Greater Detroit Chess Association for Secondary Schools). This year the team won the fall tournament with a 10-1 record, including a 2-1-2 victory over second place Gaba Chess Club and a 3-2 victory over third-place Redford. The tournament victory assured them of a berth in the championship in which the winner of the fall tournament plays the winner of the spring tournament. During the spring tournament which is slightly over half finished the team holds a 4-2 record, dropping close decisions to Garden City and Mumford.

They Record Madisonian Memories

Mrs. Gail Carr, sponsor of the Aquila meets with part of her staff to prepare a new issue. Seated around the table are: Pat Seckle, Gerry Lowe, Sherri Durette, Pat Tobey, and Pat Humphries. Besides the shining new format of the bi-weekly paper, the school was delighted by the clever posters used for advertising their efforts.

The Aquila is Madison's school paper. Aquila means Eagle and this title is fitting for a school whose symbol is the greatest and strongest of all birds. Sponsored by Mrs. Gail Carr, the newspaper had a new format this year and was published every two weeks by the journalism class. Editor Jerry Waldrop and his staff were always on the prowl for news and views. All through the school year Madisonians get involved in and excited about various school activities. When the school year is over they are often amazed to see just how many things were done during the year when nothing but memory remains of the homecoming and football and the plays. These are the memories that the Madisonian tries to keep alive for years to come in our yearbook. This year the format and size of the yearbook have changed. Brenda Ellis and a good staff worked with advisor, Miss Patricia Smith.

Working in the last stages of the Madisonian, Barbara Uksa, Sharon Schultz, Harry Sutton, Brenda Ellis, Judy Rose, Linda West.

Homecoming 1963 Madison Vs Fitzgerald. Coaches Consolo, Myers, and Johnson look very concerned before the starting play of the second half.

Paul Yearwood, leading interference, rolls right to block the opposing player, while Larry Zabawa cuts inside to gain valuable yardage.

After outmaneuvering his man, Richard Leitch makes a sensational catch to score the final touchdown against Lake Orion.

The Madison Football Team certainly kept everyone in doubt each time we took the field this year. For instance, after an opening 12-12 tie game with Livonia Franklin, our Eagles seemingly were on the verge of beating Fitzgerald time and again only to have our opportunities thwarted repeatedly and finally lose for the second straight year by a score of 7 to 6. Fitzgerald cruised onward and completely dominated the league by crushing all other opponents easily. This heartbreaking loss unknowingly inflicted much more damage mentally than we expected for we didn't arise from it until we had dropped three more games to Clawson, Rochester and Troy in succession. It was at this precise point that we seemingly regrouped our forces to generate a most devastating attack which completely annihilated our next three opponents by overwhelming scores. Not only did we score many touchdowns, but we held the opposition to "0" touchdowns in the process. During this time we amassed 87 points and set a Varsity field record of 39 points, and an away-league game record of 34 points. This, of course, is a great tribute to the team and especially the seniors for a great comeback when things were looking very bleak. We have a three game winning streak going now and we intend to continue it during 1964. Because we will play in our beautiful new stadium next season, and because we have added undefeated Tawas Area high school and highly-rated Birmingham Seaholm high school to our new 9-game schedule, we are going to revitalize a slogan which we intend to permeate throughout the student body and the community — we shall call it, OPERATION PRIDE. Pride is the basis of winning teams, and next season we expect to play every Friday as if we were planting the flag on Iwo Jima.

Hockey Makes First Appearance at Madison

Our hockey team this year didn't have enough depth to win very many games in the International High School League. We had six or seven boys who could skate with the best in the league, but when these boys had to be rested, we were in trouble. An indication of this is that we often did fairly well until about the middle of the second period, and then "the roof would fall in." There will be a possible Junior Varsity team in the Royal Oak Recreation League next year. (The Varsity may also play in this league along with its games in the I. H. L.) This should help to develop a few players each year. Approximately 20 boys took part in our program. And by the end of the 23 game schedule, we were getting some resemblance of order in our attack and defensively too. Being the least penalized in an eleven team league reflects that we were not taking the man out enough on full or partial presses (fore checking is the hockey term.) Then we improve our skating and quit looking at the puck.

Offensively we have to learn to play our lanes better and use give-and-go passes more. We should also learn to overcome 2 on 1 and 3 on 1 situations by using semi-weaves, drop passes, return pivots, and triangle situations. The two senior members of our starting lineup, Larry Dolney and Tom Lewis will be missed next year. Larry Dolney received honorable mention on the league's all Star Team and was tied as the team's leading scorer with Jim Ristum having 14 goals and 12 assists. Three other seniors Tony Fratt, Howard Wandell, Doug Gravel, and Jerry Jones helped us too. Two freshmen goaltenders Bill Petroskey and Randy Carlton should be a great help next year. A freshman line of Doug Thomas, Doug Dolney and Eric Reed was used sparingly this year, but should be great help next year along with Ken Weathers. Our two starting defensemen John Morrison and Chuck Kremhelmer (received honorable mention this year) and should have more poise under pressure next year.

Madison Cagers Provide Many Close Scoring Games for Loyal Fans

The Madison Varsity Basketball team started the season with only two experienced members and some improving underclassmen. The record of 5 & 12 is not a clear indication of the squads ability as it continued to improve with each game. Two come-from-behind victories over Avondale and two more over Rochester, as well as a home court victory over Clawson in a must game, earned this squad 5th place in the "Oakland A" League. Four Seniors gave this years' squad its leadership and set examples for the underclassmen, Bob Barrett, Mike Jacobs, Rich Leitch, Tom Heger. Bob Barrett was elected as a member of the "Oakland A" League All Star Team and led the team in scoring and rebounding. Already looking forward to next season are the returning members of this 1963-64 squad. The Junior Varsity squad compiled a 3 & 13 record, but is expected to contribute several important members to next years varsity. The freshmen, one of our biggest teams in years, finished with a 4 & 6 record finishing strong the last half of the season.

Tankmen Finish Strong With 8-7 Season

Coach Bach talks to Roy Chapman and Jerry Hunsanger about an upcoming event.

On the blocks Jim McCoy, Eric Ollia, Jerry Hunsanger, Roy Chapman, and Dan Gentry wait for the start of the free style event.

A tough man to beat in the coming season in the breast stroke will be Bob Swanson.

Senior diver Dan Gentry demonstrated the correct form for successfully accomplishing the back layout.

Madison's swimming team finished their season on a winning basis with an overall record of 8 wins and seven losses, with the heavy loss of last year's seniors, many vacancies had to be filled by young swimmers. But the burden of carrying the team through the season rested on the shoulders of the 9 returning lettermen. Senior co-captains Roy Chapman and Jerry Hunsanger were prime factors in contributing towards the teams winning season. Senior diver Dan Gentry gave the team a steady performance all season long in the diving. The other senior member on this year's team, Eric Ollila, managed to find time among his various activities to provide much needed depth in the freestyle events. Junior diver Tom Frost, distance swimmer Jim Price, and breaststroker George Lathey give reason to look for some top performances for next season. Sophomores Mike Machnik and Russ Gill round out the veterans who so much contributed toward making this past year a winning one.

Great interest is being aroused in track at Madison High School now and during the past four years. The squad consists of 60 boys headed by the captains Larry Zabawa and Dennis Tibbets who in their own right are ranked high among the states' distance runners. Other returning lettermen are Larry Gentry, Gary York and Pete Chrest.

Although we lost some fine boys in the 1963 squad we are confident that there will be others to take their place as the track team tries to improve on its place in the conference and regional competition.

Some of the feature events of the year are the Huron relays and Ypsilanti, the Michigan State relays at East Lansing, the Mansfield relays at Mansfield, Ohio and the Central relays at Mount Pleasant. These fine events not only give the boys a chance for good competition in track, but also gives them the opportunity to travel to different parts of the state and spread good will through the Madison High School.

Gary Knoche receives the baton from Larry Zabawa in the last lap of the 880 relay.

Baseball Starts With Hopes High

There are 75 boys out for baseball this year. There are returning lettermen at every position. We have some real good prospects from last years reserve and freshman teams. This year 25 players will be suited for the games instead of 18. We expect a fair year and hope to break even. Most competition is expected from Avondale, Fitzgerald, and Clawson. The coaching staff remains the same: Mr. Samples, Reserve, Mr. Bach, Freshman and Mr. Gosseaux, Varsity. The outstanding candidates are Butch Fratt, Bill Vogan, Bill Scholes, Jim Ristum, Mike Dean, Buddy Nottingham. The returning lettermen are: Bob Barrett, Catcher, Jerry Waldrop, first base, Tom Heger, Shortstop, Mike Sidelko, third base, Lloyd Hood, second base, John Firetto, outfield, Mike Jacobs, outfield, Benny Wright, outfield, Ken Guldi, pitcher, Jerry Lewis, infield.

First row: Mike Sidelko, John Firetto, Jerry Gearett, Bob Barrett, Benny Wright. Second row: Mr. Gosseaux, Jerry Lewis, Harold Parker, Mike Jacobs, Tom Heger, Doug Gravel.

First row: Bob Landry, George Reiccardi, Ken Shea, Ed LaMountain,
Second row: Henry Shonka, Mike Davidson, Allen Cume, Mr. Hoffman,

Madison's two varsity bowling teams, the "Gold" and the "Purple" each had successful seasons finishing in the top division. The Gold team was captained by Mike Dean. Ken Shea was the leading bowler with 181 average over the season. He had eight games of 200 or better. Ed LaMountain was second with an average of 164, and a high game of 236. The Purple team was captained by Mike Davidson, who had the highest individual game of 234. Bob Landry had second high game of 233. Mike and Bob each lead the Purple team with season averages of 155.

Golfers Look Forward to Spring

Though we don't expect to win many matches this year, since we'll be competing against boys from other schools who have had a lot more experience with the game of golf, we do expect to enjoy ourselves out on the fairways, and each boy will be trying his best to improve his game of golf and beat his opponent. Mr. Scott has brought along five or six boys who have experience in competition, and they are expected to be considerably better golfers this year than last year due to their greater maturity; good golfers are not born; they develop slowly through constant practice and determination, and these boys are determined to become good golfers. We are looking forward to a very successful year.

Girls Have Successful Season

The girl's basketball team was under G.A.A. this year. The coach for this year's team was Mrs. Bellas. The girls played a total of 5 games with a record of 1 and 4 (defeating Harper Woods). Carol Ann Hess was high scorer with a total of 52 points and with Candy McLellan following behind. The team this year will be losing only two of its players. They are Nancy Travnickar and Joann Knable. The girls interscholastically team is basically designed for the girl with the average of above 'B'. The competition is keener and skills have to be more advanced. Willingness to work and improve skills can help any girl to earn a place on the girl's varsity team.

Seniors Move On Confidently

Being a Senior is more than accomplishing twelve years of school. Seniors are looked up to and even envied by their fellow classmates while they themselves feel small and insignificant in comparison to the world they are about to enter. Many are the memories of this last, most wonderful, year of high school, planning the Homecoming Dance, selling candy to raise money for the Senior Trip, receiving senior pictures, ordering announcements, attending the Honors Assembly where deserving Seniors receive their reward, and last and most important, the final week highlighted with practice and ending with Commencement. Seniors seek various outlets for all of their excess energy ranging from the most vigorous athletics to burning the midnight oil writing those last minute term papers. Four years of hard work, much planning and a lot of fun are all brought to culmination the moment the diploma is placed in the hands of a Senior.

The Class of 64' is the 50th class to graduate from Madison High School. For this reason the theme of the prom was "Golden Hours" expressing not only the enjoyable, priceless hours of the prom but also the significance of this being the 50th graduating class. Senior class counselor, Mr. John Gruden, helped bring about the success of many of the activities, one being the candy sale, in which members of the class earned money for their expenditures.

Seniors Possess Fingertip Magic

Some students possess that wonderful fingertip magic which turns oils into beautiful scenes on a canvas, or a pencil sketch into a human face. Such are our Senior art students. If one were to pass by a window of Madison on a sunny day last autumn he might have seen several art students on the lawn or in the woods with their sketch pads and pencils. Mother Nature provided a colorful scene for these ambitious painters and sketchers. Looking absorbed in their work are Seniors Darlene Owens, Jim McCoy, Levi Matteson, and Greg Savine.

The Object of Rotary

To encourage and foster the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise and, in particular, to encourage and foster:

1. The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service;
2. High ethical standards in business and professions; the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations; and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society;
3. The application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal, business, and community life;
4. The advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service.

LIVING

Today's graduates are entering an exciting new era where they will live better electrically in every way . . . at home, at work, or at play.

For example, if you choose marriage, you can enjoy an all-electric home. Included will be electric heat, built-in electric range and refrigerator and a host of time-saving, economical electric appliances. They will be the ultimate in modern living comfort and convenience.

Or, if you go into business, efficient electrically operated machines will assist you in getting the job done swiftly and easily—again an illustration of the versatility and dependability of electricity.

Or, if you go on to college, perhaps you will become one of the scientists or technicians who help further mold the all-electric world of the future.

No matter which path you may choose, electricity will be there to lighten your load, brighten your way . . . help you live better . . . electrically.
